Fourth Grade News

Instruction

- In math we will be ending chapter 4 on division strategies and beginning chapter 6 on fraction equivalence and comparison. In this chapter we will explore how to find equivalent fractions as well as how to compare and order fractions.
- In ELA, we will complete our Literary Essay unit. Our next reading and writing units will focus on research- looking closely at the American Revolution. We will be learning about the features, structures, and strategies specific to informational texts. We will also be choosing topics of interest, organizing the information into subtopics, and developing the topic with evidence, anecdotes and quotations found in our sources.
- We will continue our 'Vision and Light' unit in Science, investigating how animals use their senses to survive in their environment.
- In social studies we will complete our studies of Native Americans. Next, we will learn about the Colonial and Revolutionary Periods in American history.
